

Brief Bio August 2019

Charlotte is Group Director for Strategy & New Care Models for the in Mid & South Essex University Hospitals Group. Her role encompasses strategy, quality improvement within the Sustainability & Transformation Partnership, innovation and strategic intelligence. Charlotte joined the trusts in August 2017 from UCLPartners where she was Chief of Staff and Director for Population Health, working across discovery science, clinical research, and innovation. She was seconded for two years to NHS England's Strategy Group, supporting the Next Steps on the Five Year Forward View and managed the initiation of the national New Care Models (NHS "vanguard") Programme. Previously as the founding Executive Director of the London Cancer Integrated Cancer System, Charlotte helped drive major system change in the capital, after several years as a senior manager in acute hospital operations.